

SPRECKELS TELLS
OF BIG SUGAR WARMagnates in East and in West Fight Business Battle.

ENDS IN CONSOLIDATION

House Committee Hears How Monarchs of Industry
Joined Forces.

Washington, June 26.—Details of a great sugar deal in the early nineties between Claus Spreckels, in the West, and Henry O. Havemeyer, in the East, resulting in an alliance between those two sugar sovereigns, were related today to the Sugar Trust Investigating Committee of the House by John D. Spreckels, son of the sugar magnate and president of the Western Sugar Refining Company, of San Francisco.

"When Claus Spreckels met Henry O. Havemeyer in that old sugar war," asked Representative Mann, of the witness, "it was a contest of Greek against Greek, was it not?"

"It certainly was a fight,"

"In the sugar industry, was he?"

"He was to the Pacific coast what Henry O. Havemeyer was to the Atlantic, wasn't he, a monarch over the sugar industry?"

"In a lawful way, he was," said Mr. Spreckels. "We always aim to carry on our business in a lawful manner."

Describes Sugar War.

Mr. Spreckels then described how, during the sugar war, his father invaded the Eastern territory and erected great cane sugar refineries in Philadelphia. That brought about the culmination of the fight.

"What was the first of those two masters to throw up his hands?" Mr. Madison resumed.

"I think it was Havemeyer," said Mr. Spreckels. "When we entered the East in that fight, of course, both my father and Mr. Havemeyer realized that they were losing money. They came to their senses, and, in short, came together and concluded that such a fight was of no use. It resulted in a consolidation of the plants in the East and the formation of the Western Sugar Refining Company in California, which took over the American Sugar Refining Company plant and our plant there."

"The American plant in the West was closed down. Each side took a half interest in the new company. In the East the entire Philadelphia Spreckels plant was eventually sold to the American Sugar Refining Company. That was, I think, in 1892."

"After that there was never any competition between Spreckels and Havemeyer, was there?" Mr. Madison inquired.

"No, but there has since been plenty of other competition."

Mr. Spreckels also described how Mr. Havemeyer became associated with them in 1897 in the Spreckels beet sugar company in the Western Sugar Refining Company in California, the largest beet sugar plant in the world. He further related the history of an agreement in 1903 between the Western Sugar Refining Company with a rival concern, the California-Hawaiian Sugar Company, whereby the plant of the latter was leased by the former and shut down for three years. Eventually it was turned back to the original owners and is again a competitor. This transaction, Mr. Spreckels said, was advised by counsel, was not a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The witness declared that in his opinion free trade in sugar would ruin the beet sugar business, and he proposed that with the tariff on sugar let alone, the State of California alone could furnish enough sugar from beets to supply the entire United States and to warrant the tariff protection of the industry.

Has No Monopoly.

In answer to questions by Representative Hinds, Mr. Spreckels declared that the American Sugar Refining Company did not have a monopoly of the sugar business of the country.

"If there motive in coming to California was to monopolize the sugar business they did not succeed," Mr. Spreckels declared.

"Well, the American Sugar Refining Company, having half of your stock, are you conscious of competition with them in Missouri River territory?" asked Mr. Hinds.

"Oh, yes," was the reply. "We compete with them in New Orleans and New York output in that territory."

"Well, does not the American Sugar Refining Company, owning half the stock of the Western Sugar Refining Company, have a veto power in that company?"

"No. My brother, my son, my attorney and myself are on the board of directors and dominate the affairs of the company. They can't veto us or put us out."

Interest in today's hearing was evidenced by the appearance of Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon Church and president of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, an alliance of the Mormon and the American Sugar Company. He arrived with Bishop C. V. Staley, business manager of the Mormon Church, and Senator Reed Smoot of Utah.

President Smith will be a witness to-morrow before the committee. He came prepared to testify to-day, and his arrival having been heralded, the committee room soon was well filled with spectators, among them many women.

MEMORY RETURNING

Professor Harrington Now Recognizes
His Own Name.

New York, June 26.—Mark W. Harrington, formerly a professor in the University of Michigan, and later chief of the United States Weather Bureau, who has been an inmate of the New Jersey State Asylum at Morris Plains for nine years, has shown a sign of returning memory, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the institution. During the entire period of his residence at the asylum, Mr. Harrington has declared that he was "John Doe," and knew nothing more in his past life, but he has responded to his correct name.

Dr. Evans made the test, and will make others soon, he said to-day prior to testifying in the Harrington case. Mrs. Harrington to have herself appointed a committee of her husband's friends to look after his interests. During the trial, Mr. Harrington has been identified by his wife and his father, but he has refused to recognize them. He has been identified by his father, but he has refused to recognize them.

SOLVE STONEHENGE MYSTERY

Ruins Now Said to Be Part of Dismantled Temple.

Boston, June 26.—The mystery of Stonehenge, the earliest vestige of English civilization, the hitherto unread riddle which has for hundreds of years perplexed the most learned savants and interested all others of the English-speaking race, is believed to have been solved by Professor Richard Norton, of Harvard, according to reports which have reached this country.

The popular superstition that the great ruins at Stonehenge had to do with the worship by the Druids has been subjected to scientific ridicule, but a supposedly even more ridiculous notion, superstition regarding them, in the light of recent discoveries, is now made to appear founded in fact.

The latest discoveries have led to putting forward the theory that the ruins at Stonehenge are in part dismantled tombs. Long ago it was pointed out that their height precluded their having been used by the Druids as sacrificial altars, though this did not preclude the hitherto unthought of possibility that they might have been "temple" entrances.

The tradition once prevailed in England, according to Geoffrey of Monmouth, that the stones of Stonehenge were brought by the acts of the giants of old from Africa to Kildare, and afterward by Merlin the magician, to Salisbury plain. This was founded on an actual under basis of fact is now believed to be shown.

DANVILLE BOY ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF DESERTION

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Danville, Va., June 26.—While watching the game with Petersburg here, this afternoon, Sumpter Sheard, a young Danville boy, was arrested, charged with deserting from the United States Army in Texas. It is alleged he left the army about a week ago. The officer who made the arrest will win a reward of $50. He is in jail awaiting the arrival of an officer from Washington. Sheard claims he had been discharged from the army, but left before he received his papers.

come in time, and if his first request to-morrow is not acceded to he will repeat it day after day.

"We shall at least succeed in informing the public where the objection to action lies," he said, "and if we succeed to that extent our efforts will not have been in vain."

There is some apprehension among Republican Senators that the wool bill might pass if a vote should be reached, but they affect to feel assured that in the event of such a contingency the President would veto the measure under his promise to postpone all tariff legislation until report can be received from the tariff board.

Lines Are Tightened.

During the day there was a general tightening of the lines in favor of the wool growers. The friends of the measure on the Democratic side continued the canvass of the situation and when the Senate adjourned declared that no future amendment would receive more than five Democratic votes. The Democratic Senators classed against the bill and favorable to amendments are Bailey, Simmons, Clarke, of Arkansas; Thornton and Foster, and some of these are ranked as doubtful.

Longer hours are in prospect. The Finance Committee will soon ask that the sitting of the Senate begin at 1 o'clock in the hope that business will be expedited. The argument in support is that as there are no committee meetings standing in the way of prolonged Senate sessions all possible time should be given to reciprocity.

Really Was Applause.

Washington, June 26.—The expression "applause" after the words, "Jesus was born in a manger; John the Baptist fed on locusts and wild honey," in the printed speech of the Representative Fowler, of Illinois, a newly elected Democrat, precipitated a personal colloquy in the House to-day.

Representative Mann, of Illinois, the Republican leader of the House, accused Mr. Fowler of having inserted all the "applause" in the advance copy of the speech. Mr. Mann said he would not have noticed this, but for the fact that the word "applause" was inserted after the quotation cited. Representative Stone, also an Illinoisan, declared he heard the speech delivered and that there was applause at all the points indicated.

The passage of an urgent deficiency appropriation bill for $31,000,000 including the payment of expenses of the special investigations now being conducted by House committees, was practically the only business transacted by the House to-day.

Work of committees nothing will be done by the House until after July 1, adjournment being taken to-day for three days with the understanding no business would be transacted on Thursday or on next Monday.

May Probe Patent Law.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—To ascertain whether patents are used or misused in the establishing of industrial trusts or monopolies, the committee of the House on Patents, of which Representative Stone, also an Illinoisan, declared he heard the speech delivered and that there was applause at all the points indicated.

The passage of an urgent deficiency appropriation bill for $31,000,000 including the payment of expenses of the special investigations now being conducted by House committees, was practically the only business transacted by the House to-day.

Work of committees nothing will be done by the House until after July 1, adjournment being taken to-day for three days with the understanding no business would be transacted on Thursday or on next Monday.

INDUCED - O LEAVE HOME.

Eighteen-Year-Old Culpeper Girl Joined Carnival Company.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Alexandria, Va., June 26.—Weary of the drab life in the little town of Culpeper, Viola Sherman, eighteen years old and pretty, left her place of employment yesterday morning with a carnival company, reaching this city at 4 o'clock this morning. She was found in a car of the carnival company by a special officer of the railway company and brought to police headquarters, and when arraigned in court this morning she sobbed and told the judge that she was induced by one of the men in the company to come along. The proprietor of the carnival company, however, did not want the girl and her apprehension followed.

She was returned to Culpeper this afternoon, although she was averse to returning.

Declines Call to Alexandria.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Alexandria, Va., June 26.—Rev. Urban C. McNeely, of Birmingham, Ala., who recently extended a call to the pastors of the Second Presbyterian Church, this city, has declined. A meeting of the congregation of the church will be held shortly to call another pastor.

We Spent $100,000
In Perfecting Van Camp's MilkIf you think that all evaporated Milks are alike—because prices are similar and all are milk—it is worth while to read these facts.

Holland and Switzerland have long produced the finest evaporated milk in the world. Until lately, no American brand could compare with it.

We had equal milk, but we could not make it utterly sterile without scorching it with heat.

And we lacked the skill to prevent separation. The butter fat at times got away from the solids.

It has taken seven years, and cost $100,000, to bring Van Camp's Milk to the highest standards attained by the Swiss and the Dutch.

Getting Expert Help

A famous Swiss expert was first employed. He brought Van Camp's Milk so close to perfection that our annual sale jumped to tens of millions of cans.

But the final touch came from Holland. A Dutch expert created our present standard. There is not in America another milk that compares with it. There is not in the world an evaporated milk any better.

This milk would control the milk trade of this continent if we could make enough. Now it goes only to the comparative few who are lucky enough to know it.
